AID TO CHINA SCHEME Five Hundred Millions Now Proposed

State Department Programme

Washington, Feb. 5. Aid for China, totalling about $500 million, is proposed in a State Department plan prepared for the National Advisory Council, the United States policy-making body in the field of finance, a Council spokesman confirmed today.

This estimate—which may be changed somewhat either by the National Advisory Council or by the Bureau of Budget before reaching Congress—is somewhat higher than the original tentative figures given to Congress by Mr. George Marshall, the Secretary of State, nearly three months ago.

From the end of the war down to December 15 last the shaping of the post-war world was conkrolled—at least in theory—by a four-Power collaboration. With the final break-up of the Foreign Alinisters' Conference on December 15, that system came virtually to an end. Traces of it still linger, such as the four-Power controls in Berlin and Vienna. But the Power which wrecked shortage of accommodation the main machinery--Russia - them when they arrive. has not disguised her desire to end these minor machineries also, ing introduced provides for free In the meantime the four Powers passages for ex-servicemen and are not collaborating; and the women of the U.K. Forces and question which any British For- for assisted passages to civi-1 eign Secretary must answer is: i How does he propose to fill up the resulting vacuum?

HONG KONG AND JAPAN Colony May Send An Adviser To Peace Talks

Question Raised In Parliament

London, Feb. 5. The Prime Minister, Mr. Clement Attlee, told the House of Commons today that, wherever it was desirable and feasible, the colonial governments directly concerned with the Japanese peace settlement would be invited to attach advisers to the British delegations in future talks.

Mr. William Teeling, who recently returned from a visit to the Far East, had asked the Prime Minister why the Hong Kong Government was not represented at the Canberra talks on a peace treaty with Japan.

Nathan Tells A Story

NEW YORK, FEB. 6. AN EXHAUSTIVE AC-COUNT OF THE STRUGGLE BY BRITISH MERCHANTS TO "MAKE ANOTHER BRI-TISH INDIA OUT OF CHINA" WAS PUBLISHED TODAY BY KING'S CROWN PRESS, UNDER THE AUSPICES OF THE AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF PACIFIC RELATIONS.

The book is "Old China Hands and the Foreign Office" by Nathan A. Pelcovits. It recounts the futile efforts in the late 19th and early 20th centuries to convince the Foreign Office that Britain should assume "unlimited commitments and liability" in China.

The author reports: half-century conflict between Old China Hands and the Forsign Office over the premises of Anglo-Chinese relations and, consequently, the extent to which British commitments should be pusped, ended without being resolved. But it ended with a definite realization that China would never be another British India; not eveny Owen and the rest on trust for an Egypt. Commenting on the statement made by Sir Reginald Rootes, the Ministry of Supply state that the steel to be allocated to the motor industry for both the first and second quarters of 1948 is larger than the allocation for the last quarter of 1947, when production has been running at a rate of 310,000 cars a year.

No forceast of allocation for the remainder of 1948 has been given, but there is no ground for assuming that when the allocations are made they will not show an inerense. For motor cars the export target is at the rate of 315,000 per year at the end of 1948, which, with an allowance for home requiroments, involves productlin reaching approximately a rate of

New York, Feb. 5. Wall Street blamed "Washington" and the fear of further European currency devaluations for yesterday's price drop in the American stock and commodity markets—which was the biggest drop for over a year.

From coast to coast, people rushed to sell their holdings, wiping out about $1,000 million in the market valuations of stocks.

Measures

Sales totalled over one million (shures and stock quotations in the New York Exchanges dropped one dollar to an extreme of five dollars per share.

Since Christmas, the index of sensitive commedity prices in the United States has slumped from over 460 to less than 435. Nearly eight points of that decline occurred yesterday alone. Everybody supposed that the French free market would register a distrust of some cur rencies against the dollar, What it has, in fact, registered is a distrust of all currencies. including the dollar against geld.

100 Per Cent

Yesterday, the first day that gold trading in Paris became legal, the prices of gold coins there reached premiums of exactly 100 per cent over even the free market price of the dollar.

SHANGHAI INTERPORT SURPRISE

Shanghai, Feb. 6. In a surprise move the committee of the Shanghai Athletic Federation last night overruled the decision of the football committee to expel Nyl and Lee from the Olympic Probables and Interport teams.

As a result the remaining five Tsing Peh players removed from the two selected sides are automatically reinstated.

The committee's decision means that Shanghal's Interport XI will be the same as originally selected. --Reuter.
